

Front Door Snow Figures

Fresh snowfall along a cleared path created small figure-like forms along the snow banks near the front door. They looked like little visitors gathered along the path—another quiet moment of pareidolia hidden in plain sight.

